Dear Mr. Cashell,

At last my final letter before we meet. We had our meeting in Dunbar last night to finalise plans.

There may well be a reduction of one or two, but it looks as if we will be 29 bodies for beds in Skerries on Friday night and 25 in Dublin on the Saturday night. It certainly won't be more.

Regarding time of arrival - as far as I know, it is on the Express train called the "Enterprise", due Dublin at quarter to one or thereby, but I expect you can easily get this from your timetable. We leave Belfast at 10.30.

So that you may recognise us, the majority will be wearing club ties which are green in colour with a white, rather indistinct, silhouette of Dunbar Castle. I have no doubt you will recognise us, although of course there will be several other teams on the train also.

Your letter reference bed accommodation not yet received, but I will sort that out when it arrives.

Thanks for everything and I look forward to seeing you greatly.

Yours sincerely,
